

ApxEarlyBilling

The appendix is intended to bring very much into focus the absolute shock I experienced as a customer when suddenly, previous signals having been neutral or minor in terms of amounts potentially owing - the *sudden appearance of a debt of ~ £2,500 somehow appearing on my account. This was the start of a never ending feeling that 'something is wrong with this somewhere' on my part.

In this appendix:

1. 19-01-22 An early email with 'Beran' from Octopus as I was, at that point in time, trying to work out who was attempting to withdraw money via a direct debit that I had not authorised. (included here to explain why the DD the next day did not go through - as no one had thought to inform me about it).
2. 20-01-22 - DEBT Email from Octoput telling me my direct debit had not worked which is hardly suprising given the email above). However the important point here is tha following is clearly shown: BALANCE £143 (DEBIT)*
3. 09-05-22 - DEBT approx £2,450 ! Email announcing that I owe some £2,500 to Octopus, who a couple of months before I'd owed apparently -£143.00 BALANCE £1300 OCTOPUS. BALANCE £1150 OCTOPUS.

How is a customer supposed to budget for an account if this type of change in account value happens so radidly.

Please note however that I was at this stage and did continue to follow Octoput DD recommendations - until specifically noted in this document.
