Energy prices from July 2024 and what they mean for you

Dear Mark,

Your energy prices will be cheaper from July 1: around £122 a year for a typical home. We continue to be the only large supplier to set our default standing charges meaningfully below the Ofgem Price Cap. For more detail, see this video from Greg, our founder: <https://octo.ps/july>.

You'll find a personalised breakdown in this document. We're not adjusting your payments right now. As ever, we'll monitor your payments and automatically suggest a reduction if it looks like you're paying too much.

You can also check our unique Balance Forecast in your online account to get a sense of whether your monthly payments are set at a sensible level and adjust them if helpful.

Unfortunately, mainly because of regulated costs imposed on every meter, standing charges remain high. If you are struggling with your bills, please get in touch – you can apply or find out more about our support fund, standing charge help, or our electric blanket scheme at <https://octo.ps/crisis-support>.

It's also worth considering switching tariff or supplier – we're offering fixed rate tariffs with no exit fees.

Smart tariffs can also help you save. If you can use less electricity during the 4-7pm peak each day, then Agile Octopus could be good for you. Alternatively, Octopus Tracker updates prices daily based on the latest wholesale rates, and offers good value at the moment. Drop us an email to hello@octopus.energy if you'd like to find out more.

Yours sincerely,

The Octopus Energy team
