Hello Mark,

We've just heard from Avro that they've calculated your final bill for account A-A7CD64F4. You'll find it in your Octopus online account, it should also be available in the usual spot on Avro's website.

Good to know: Your final bill is based on estimated usage, because your September readings were more than 500% above or below industry estimates.

According to Avro, the final balance on your account is -£1,124.93 in debt.

To save customers with a balance outstanding from having to deal with a collection agency, and to help those who are due a refund to receive it quickly, we've agreed with Avro's administrators, in line with Ofgem's recommendation, to manage the final balances for all customers who've come over to Octopus, regardless of whether accounts are in credit or debt.

We've automatically transferred the Avro balance to your Octopus account as an Avro Repayment Plan. You'll find it listed alongside your standard account balance online and in emails, and as a separate page at the end of your bills or statements.

If you'd like to pay it off with a single payment, you can make a payment here.

Once your payment details, final Avro balance and annual energy estimates have all transferred to Octopus systems, we'll be in touch with a recommendation for your future payments.

If you disagree with the final bill, we'll ask a few questions and review your case on an individual basis. If that's the case, just let us know by replying to this email.

Kind regards,
The Octopus Energy team

PS. In all cases, "Avro" refers to Avro Energy Limited (in Administration).
